Top honour for fitouts apprentice

GOLD Coast company Projects Queensland and its employees are racking up awards for their fit-outs of luxury stores.

Earlier this year, PQ won the Australian Shop and Office Industry Association awards for its fitouts of Tag Heuer and Louis Vuitton's Brisbane stores and Sunland Group's national headquarters at 111 Eagle St, Brisbane.

Now PQ apprentice Jayden Wood has picked up the ASOFIA Queensland apprentice of the year award.

He received the gong at the group's annual meeting from cricketing legend Matthew Hayden.

Jayden, 19, is now working on PQ's contract for the fitout of Gucci's new Perth store.

"Without a doubt this ASOFIA award for Jayden will surely go down as one of his up moments as he commences the start of his working life," PQ's senior project manager and estimator, Craig Stewart, said.

PQ's general manager, Manuel Pena, said: "We are very proud of Jayden's achievements."
